OMEGA-3 (EPA & DHA)

Saves your heart and veins...

Fatty acids(EPA=EicosaPentaenoic Acid and DHA=DocosaHexaenoic Acid ) are necessary for human body from the pregnancy till the end of his life.Hence they prevent myocardial infraction with strong antithrombotic effect they protect the heart from cardiovascular (heart and veins) diseas. Moreover fish oil reduces the cholesterol and triglyceride so reduces the risk of heart diseases, heart attack , atherosclerosis and acute stroke.

EPA and DHA is very usefull on muscle-skeletal system and immune system with their anti-inflammatory effect. They reduces the effects of rheumatoid arthritis such as morning stiffness.

Recent searches has shown that lack of DHA causes attention deficiency and hyperactivity disorder in children. DHA oil has very important role on learning and brain development of children.

EPA and DHA cannot be produced in human body .

They can be found in high amounts only in fish oil.

How to use: 1 capsule everyday after meal

Chondroitin Sulfate	300 mg
MSM (Methyl Sulfonyl Methane)	200 mg
Irodforce™ Root Extract (Homocypselus prostratus)	100 mg

(1 capsule for 7 capsules)

Osteoarthritis is a destruction of cartilage in joints. It is a very common joint disease because articular cartilage has a very limited capacity of repair.

Chondrocytes make cartilage cells start to work by increasing their capacity in order to be able to repair cartilage damage.

Glucosamine is an aminosaccharid and is an essential substance for production of cartilage by chondrocytes. Glycosaminoglycans, the basic building structure of cartilage, are formed by glucosamine.

Chondroitin, the most abundant glycosaminoglycan in the body, is an essential substance that is included in the structure of proteoglycans which is a necessary compound for production of cartilage.

Glucosamine and Chondroitin prevent destruction of cartilage and increase cartilage production by inhibiting enzymes which cause destruction of cartilage. In this way, they help to reduce chronic pain due to destruction of cartilage.

Ginkgo preparations are standardized on the basis of flavonoids in the ratio of 22.0–27.0% and terpene lactones in the ratio of 5.0–7.0%.

These active compositions have a synergic effect on the formation of extract pharmacological and clinical effects.

It is shown that on the patients with demans, clinical effectiveness depends on

- increasing the cerebrovascular blood stream,
- tonifying the brain mechanisms,
- preventing the brain damage with the effect of antioxidant and free radical scavenger
- increasing the blood flow velocity going by congested artery by increasing the fluidity of blood of efficacy in peripheral artery artresia.

Clinical studies about the usage of Ginkgo extracts on Alzheimer type demans and other demans syndromes show that they are effective.

The positive effect of C. Asiatica's watery-ethanol on memory shows that antioxidant mechanism has an effective role on memory too. Besides the cardiovascular protective and chemopreventive effects, proanthocyanidin are effective compositions on the Alzheimer disease.

Deficiency of Vitamin B6, B12, zinc and folic acid cause amnesia. Vitamin B protects the brain against stress and has positive effects on mental and physical health. Vitamin B6 and B12, zinc and folic acid take part in formulation by strengthening the memory and brain functions.

Fruits of Capsicum annuum herb contains high amount of capsaicinoid. These are (capsaicin and dehydrocapsaicin) active substances which taste bitter red pepper. In realized animal experiments, it is found that it increases thermogenesis by increasing release of catecholamine from adrenal medulla dependent on dose of capsaicin. Clinical surveys have shown that there is a significant increase in energy consumption in the body after eating meals with red peppers.

Dieting people use chrome for its essential role of carbohydrate and fat metabolism. Role of chrome in losing weight is to regulate insulin resistance. Chrome picolinate is the most easily absorbable form of chrome by the body. Chrome is very important for processing of carbohydrates and fats and it allows the cells to respond to insulin hormone properly. In case of non-consumption of sufficient chrome everyday, insulin hormone cannot function properly and damage occurs in insulin-dependent systems in the body.

When insulin resistance occurs, much more blood remains in blood stream and it is stored in the body instead of being used for energy production. Insulin resistance increases the risk of diabetes, cardiovascular diseases and obesity. Chrome picolinate is used against insulin resistance and helps to get rid of excess weights by burning carbohydrates and fats.

Coenzyme Q10 helps to maintain a healthy cardiovascular system. There is evidence of CoQ10 deficiency in heart failure.

Recently, CoQ10 plasma concentrations have been demonstrated as an independent predictor of mortality in chronic heart failure, CoQ10 deficiency being detrimental to the long-term prognosis of chronic heart failure. [43][citation needed] CoQ10 is available as medicine in several European countries, but is in these countries also available as a food supplement.

Oxidation of the circulating LDL is thought to play a key role in the pathogenesis of atherosclerosis, which is the underlying disorder leading to heart attack and ischemic strokes [44][45][46] and CHD. Studies in the last decade have demonstrated that the content of ubiquinol in human LDL affords protection against the oxidative modifications of LDL themselves, thus lowering their atherogenic potency.
